

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method for managing a public lottery and more particularly to a method under the control of a computer system which is connected to a telecommunication system, said telecommunication system having subscribers which automatically can be identified in the system by a subscriber identifier, such as a telephone number or other identification code.

2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14